Dear Judge,

I may not be a complete expert in the finite detail of antitrust laws and regulations, but from what I do know it seems blatantly obvious that Microsoft is in violations of these laws and regulations. Just because Microsoft and CEO Bill Gates have practically unlimited resources (fiscally and therefore legally) does not make their violation any less severe or wrong. I love Microsoft, Bill Gates, and everything that they have provided to the public, but they are hindering one of the most respected aspects of American freedom: capitalism. Their unfair control over such things as web browsers, etc limits the progress of other companies and in turn limits there's and, while indirect, it limits mine.

Respectfully,
